To Know, Live and Share the Love of Christ

Our Pictures Forever Changed

The Rev. Matthew Cowden, Rector

My beloved friends in Christ at Saint Michaels, During that sabbatical summer of 2016 we began a project together to make our large mosaic that now hangs in the parish hall. I took some tiles with me on my travels to pray over and to dip in every holy water font I came across. As a congregation, we took tiles home to pray over and then brought them in for construction days to create the image of a tree, deeply rooted by water brooks, green every season. This continues to be a working prayer image for us, reminding us how deeply rooted Saint Michael's is and the flourishing that continues on our holy hill, in our hearts and between us. Saint Michael's is ever green and flourishing because our tap roots are grounded in the living waters of Jesus Christ.

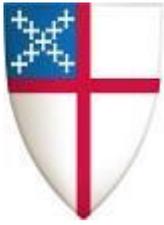

In addition to the sacramental reminder of our mosaic, sharing tiles with one another has long been a favorite metaphor of mine. I've always loved the metaphor of mosaic tiles for describing the effect that we have on one another as our lives intersect. I imagine each of us walking around with a beautiful bag that carries our favorite tiles. As we meet, travel together, and share our lives, I give you some of the tiles from my bag and you give some of the tiles from your bag to me. The tiles that you give me become part of the picture that I making with my life. The tiles that I give you are put into the picture that you are making with your life. The tiles that we have shared maintain their shape, color, and dignity, they stand out in their own unique way, they continue to tell the particular story of the one it came from. Our tiles, the experiences we share, add to the overall pictures before us and the look and shape of our lives is forever changed.

Beloved friends, you have made me and my picture richer and more beautiful than I could've ever imagined. You have given me so many incredible tiles through the years. I am grateful and forever changed. Indeed, through your love and our shared lives together, you have formed me to be the priest and pastor that I am, and now the bishop that I am called to be. Thank you. I carry you with me always. Continue to flourish. Continue to be deeply rooted in Christ. Continue to share your lives with Christ and one another. Thank you for sharing yours with me.

Say your prayers.
Every day.
God loves you.
And so do I.

Everyone loves a good story. Storytelling captivates and captures the imagination when told well. Through storytelling, humans are able to connect with one another via shared experiences. Because storytelling connects us so powerfully, it only makes sense to use the power of good storytelling to share our faith stories.

There are many kinds of faith stories. Some of them begin with our birth and bring the listeners to the present moment. Others relate a time of difficulty when the storyteller received God's grace to walk through a hardship. Some faith stories tell of times of divine intervention in our lives. A well-crafted faith story has the power to rekindle the embers of listeners' faith.

That is the purpose of The Dove Faith Cafe. It is the fulfillment of a vision that was divinely inspired by the Holy Spirit. The Dove Faith Cafe is an event that brings together storytellers and listeners who share their faith stories in an evening of hope. The Dove Faith Cafe answers the call to evangelism that we, as members of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Indiana, of the wider Episcopal Church, and as brothers and sisters of our Savior are committed to embracing. First Evening in Angola: Friday, September 17, 2021 at 6:00 p.m. at Cahoots Coffee Café. Thank you for your ongoing support of this vital ministry of service and relationship to our community. We look forward to returning to this ministry as the pandemic numbers lessen.

We are a church that feeds people, body, mind and soul.

No doubt COVID 19 has led to changes in our daily lives and activities and SOS is no exception. Beginning last March we were forced to suspend our popular “SOS Luncheon & Food Bag Distribution” to a mobile “Food Bag Distribution” which allows us to maintain “Social Distancing” and the safety of our volunteers and Guests while providing a robust bag of basic foodstuffs, fresh meats and fruit to a minimum 50 families per month.

Our Success is driven by our base of Parishioner and Guest Volunteer’s who Pack Bags, Store Inventories and Distribute food to those in need. If you are a current volunteer “Thank you for your Service”, If you would like to join our volunteer staff contact Dr. Sandy Stackhouse at 574 532 4703 or srbrownmd1951@gmail.com.

Please Remember Saint Michael’s in Your Will

Saint Michael’s has ministered to people in and around South Bend & Mishawaka for 64 years. We have been able to care for others due to the generosity of our beloved parishioners, including those who have remembered the work and ministry of our beautiful parish in their wills. Your contributions help support the many ministries we provide to our parish and to the wider community. Please remember the church in your will.

Remembering Saint Michael’s in your will is easy.

You may do so by using the following wording in your will:

“I hereby give, devise, and bequeath to Saint Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church, a not-for-profit corporation with the present address at 53720 Ironwood Road, South Bend, Indiana 46635 and its successor the greater of $_____, or _____ percentage of my gross estate to be used in such a manner as determined by its Vestry.”

Thank you for helping to preserve one of our community's most valuable resources for generations to come.

Living Our Faith

Mrs. Linda Kroll, Treasurer

As we come to the final months of the year, Fall naturally brings a time for reflection, as well as a season of thankfulness and gratitude. At St. Michaels, there is a spirit of both of these as I share a few financial updates. First, gratitude. Thanks to our wonderful Accountant, Michele, our church was blessed last year with nearly $25,000 in federal funds, which combined with generous giving from our church, allowed us to clear past deficits and begin this year with a positive balance in our operating fund of $24,000. We have much to be thankful for as well in the strong response to date in our capital campaign, allowing us to address much needed repairs to our church home.

Second, reflection. As we enter the final quarter of 2021; however, there are still many needs for the current year and years to come. At the present time, we have a $17,000 loss for the current year. If this persists, this will significantly erode the position of our operating funds, causing us to have to use the strong performance from last year to cover losses in the current year. As a parish, we need to come together and do all we can to finish this year at a break-even position. This will allow us to preserve a measure of financial reserve for unforeseen expenses, ministry investments and future items where we might envision using these funds to serve God's mission for our church in even greater ways, rather than simply seeing these funds trickle away to cover operating expenses and deficits. This will require diligence to accomplish this goal, but together we can do great things.

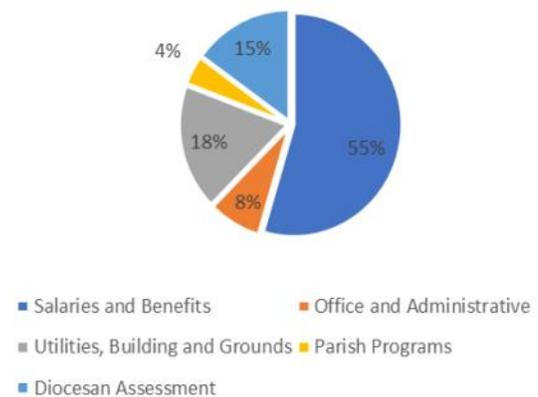

As we look to the end of this year and begin next, we as a parish are asking how we trust God. One way we trust God is by investing in the ministry and mission of our church home. The priorities of the capital campaign will care for our space and provide resources for welcoming our new parish leader.

These investments will bring exciting new things for our church. At the same time, the need remains to continue our annual giving to support parish operating expenses and ministry costs. To do what we do, it takes $260,000 a year to support our community. This sounds like a large sum, but most of those costs are just basic operations of the church with limited staffing and many volunteers, giving their time and talent to contribute to our mission. To provide more information, 100 percent of our income comes from pledge and giving income and the following a breakdown of our expenses:

Stated another way, 88 percent of our expenses cover fixed costs – salaries, building and grounds and our diocesan assessment. The remaining 12 percent cover office supplies and operations and ministry costs. Our parish needs all of our support to cover costs, invest in our ministries and allow us to further invest in our mission.

And finally, hope for our future and more on trust. As we look to the future, our parish in counting on us to trust God with our treasure, time and talent to allow our ministry and mission to flourish, touching lives within and beyond our walls and being Christ's hands and feet in the world. How will you answer God's call to our shared mission and how will you trust in God? But to turn this around a little, how is God trusting us? He has blessed us with beautiful and ample space, wonderful families in our pews, an exciting chapter as we welcome a new leader. How is God trusting us to take all of these gifts, care for them and return a gain for his kingdom? He is counting on us, how will we respond to the trust He is has for our community?

Annual Parish Expense

From a Contemplative Corner

The Venerable Hank Blunk, mystic in Residence

After months of Covid, personal explorations of Black Lives Matter, three Covid vaccine shots and a flu shot (because Jesus says “love your neighbor as yourself” and I don’t want that sickness for me or for others), and an 85th birthday, two grandsons getting married, not to mention “Poppa Matt’s” election to be Bishop, I have to be writing from this Contemplative Corner, again!

It came to me recently that we talk about the Episcopal Church as a “Big Tent.” I embrace and celebrate that inclusiveness. John’s Gospel says “God so loved the world. . .” That’s pretty inclusive.

Often, however, a “Christian” mindset is anything but inclusive, Big Tent. Moralism, political ideologies, racial prejudice, or “nobody’s going to tell me what to do,” and similar attitudes sideline our practicing the ways of Jesus. It is like we are saying, “If I believe it, it must be right.” Those ways of believing and behavior hardly make for a “Big Tent” mindset about life, personally as a Jesus follower or as a community of Jesus practitioners.

I was reminded recently of the influence of Benedictine Spirituality throughout the history of what is now the “Big Tent” Episcopal Church. That goes back through King Henry VIII and his choice of Thomas Cranmer to be Archbishop of Canterbury in the 16th century, to how one historian described the tenth century as “. . . one of ‘reformation,’ the enforcement of Benedictine observance upon the religious life,” and back further to the work of Venerable Bede in the 8th century and back. . .

The Book of Common Prayer, by Thomas Cranmer, is an expression of The Rule of Benedict in the early phases of Anglican Church Tradition. And behind the Rule of Benedict, are words from Psalm 119, “Seven Times a day I will praise you, O Lord.” It is believed that Psalm 119, along with other psalms, guided Jesus’ prayer practice and gives shape to what we know as the Daily Office in the Book of Common Prayer.

Along with daily prayer practices, is that known as “lectio divina,” divine or sacred reading, which is shaped by Benedictine practice. It is a discipline of reading a brief Bible text or some devotional reading several times until a word or phrase stands out or strikes us. Then, listening to how that word or phrase speaks to us in our ordinary, daily life and involvements. Next comes wondering what that brief word or text invites us to believe, do, or wonder about some more. It may not be immediately obvious but that is God’s word to us at that moment. The fourth phase, is known as “contemplatio,” just sitting with that brief, incisive Word, in silence, yes, in silence for several minutes or more, so God through Word and Spirit can speak to our heart and mind.

It is the fourth phase of Lectio Divina that we have come to know as “Contemplation.” Whereas reading, searching and wondering are things we do, “contemplation” is letting God do within our hearts, minds and lives what God in Jesus Christ wills. “Have your way, God” or “Thy will be done” is the life changing mystery of discipleship. It is practice and preparation for the Big Tent.

The Rule also emphasizes Hospitality, the welcoming of strangers and persons who are in need of a safe place. And that welcoming hospitality is into the fellowship and community of people who are doing their work of prayer, reading, meditating, and growing into the hospitality of our Lord Jesus Christ, whose primary involvement was always with folks who were strangers, or marginalized folks, because they were poor, sick, somehow “less than.” (Those who have made it, who are healthy and well off, or self-satisfied, often find their comfortable place a major obstacle for the Word and Spirit in our lives. Who needs that? We are doing okay as we are!) Big Tent, indeed! And for those of us who are inside there is responsibility of growing in Christ through spiritual disciplines of daily prayer practices, spiritual reading, meditation and contemplative prayer, and practicing hospitality. . .

The Rule of Benedict, a huge part of the history of Episcopal Spirituality, encourages us to do that work of heart, mind and soul.

Performers in the Big Tent practice - as flyers on the trapeze, high wire walkers, tamers of lions, bareback riders, acrobats, purveyors of popcorn, peanuts and Crackerjacks, as clowns. They practice! They know what they're doing during the show, when they are setting up or taking down, when going between gigs.

We are invited to practice so our big tent performance is not just as members, or lifelong Episcopalians, occasional church goers, but participants in the greatest show on earth for "God so loved the world. . ."

Prayer Shawl Ministry

Joyce Frost

The Prayer Shawl Ministry started in April 2012 when Barbara Coddens asked Fr. Matthew if there was a chance that St. Michael's could have such a group. Barbara didn't knit, but had received a prayer shawl when she & Ken were having health problems. Fr. Matthew asked me if I would be interested in gathering a group that would research this project. Beryl Cockram and I met and found instructions for knitting these shawls.....in the beginning we were joined by about 6 other woman and so the story goes. Some have moved on and others who found it too time consuming.

At the present time, we have a good supply and we need YOU to let us know when you see a need for us to gift one to anyone that you think will enjoy the LOVE that is knitted into each shawl. I have been told that the shawl goes with the person when they get their Chemo treatments. Some are in nursing homes also. A person does not need to be a member of St. Michael's - there just needs to be a time for comforting and love. We now have 2 ladies, Devon Burgh and Deb Ball who are crocheting shawls in a different style. We are always looking for anyone who will join the knitters - each shawl is prayed over as it is knitted, and of course, they are all Blessed by Fr. Matthew before they are gifted .
